

Update from Broadhurst Landfill

February 3, 2017

Dear Neighbors,

I hope your 2017 is off to a great start.

As you have heard me say many times, we strive to be a good neighbor — and part of being a good neighbor involves listening to the community.

At the Community meeting last March, Republic Services made a commitment to Wayne County to not accept any coal ash at Broadhurst Environmental Landfill in 2016. We honored that commitment, despite being permitted to manage the material.

With a New Year, we recognize that a few members of the community are once again apprehensive about our intentions with respect to coal ash at Broadhurst Landfill. I want to reassure the community that we are extending our commitment through this year. This means that we will not accept coal ash at Broadhurst this calendar year.

We pledge to continue to be clear with the community about our plans to permit and develop a rail facility as well. As you know, the rail facility would facilitate the transport of municipal solid waste and other permitted, non-hazardous solid wastes, which could in the future include coal ash, to the Landfill.

In addition, last year we promised to be more engaged in the community. From open houses and site tours to active participation in public meetings and candid communication with the community, I believe that we have lived up to that promise. We will do so again in 2017.

Finally, if you have not had a chance to tour the Landfill, or if you have any questions of us, please go to www.broadhurstlandfill.com to request a tour and contact our site team.

Sincerely,

Drew Isenhour
Area President, Republic Services
